Principal's Message

Greetings WCS,

Honestly, last week seems like a blur to me. I was only able to be here for one full day while the rest of the time I was at home in bed with strep throat. While I was recovering, I was able to spend a little time outside in my backyard enjoying the different flowers and plants that have bloomed now that spring is fully here.

Each time I am able to find time to do this, I am amazed at how much detail our Creator has placed into His creation, from the bright colours down to the root systems that allow the plant to live and breath. I can't see how anyone who is able to find the time, can not see the wonder of God in the creation He has made.

Last night before going to bed, I was able to listen to a program on the Christian Radio Station UCB 89.3. In the program, Dr. James Dobson was interviewing a couple who spend 6 months of the year with their children, living alone and enjoying the creation. The husband was a professional photographer and he was explaining how important it was to him to give his children the experience of being enthusiastic about the creation around us. He was also so worried about how the education system nowadays is trying to prove everything with science, and leaving out the fact that we are here because it was designed by a creator. We are more than just random atoms thrown together by chance to become what we are today.

I have to agree with him. I love the fact that all that I am and all those around me are here for a plan and purpose designed by our Creator. We are not just random beings who happen to be here for a short time and then gone forever. I love the fact that Christian Education is able to teach our students this concept, for if anything it teaches them hope and love; that there is someone out there that loves them for who they are and was willing to die for them. Too many young people in this world don't have that sense; the common conclusion being formed is, "What does it matter anyway?" Hope is being slowly snuffed out in our youth as they are unable to see the truth. That is why it is so important for the school, home, and church to work together to help our children understand what is real and what is not.

So, when is the last time you were able to direct your children to the Creator though walks you have taken through His creation? Those teachable moments can come at any time. May you all have a very blessed week as this school year draws ever closer to an end.

Shalom,
Mr. Andy J. Alblas
